Cycle-proficiency training for fourth-graders

Dear parents and guardians,

The “Jugendverkehrsschule” (Junior Traffic Training School) is a school-organized initiative that is firmly anchored in the “LehrplanPLUS Grundschule” (PLUS curriculum for primary schools). Your child was prepared for the written examination by teachers at our school, while the preparation for the practical cycle-proficiency test was carried out by police road-safety trainers.

Your child _____
in class _____

unfortunately did not pass the cycle-proficiency test.

Although he/she failed the cycle-proficiency test, this does not mean that your child can't ride his/her bicycle in public traffic. What it does mean, however, is that your child still relies on your continued support and assistance to understand road-safety rules and to follow them.

Please work closely with your child and make sure that he/she is aware of the risks and hazards involved in road traffic, especially the dangerous “blind spots” for the drivers of heavy-duty vehicles like trucks and buses.

Set an example and help your child to take part in road traffic responsibly and safely.

We wish you and your family safe and accident-free travels at all times.

If you have any questions regarding the Junior Traffic Training School and the test, or if you'd like more tips on how you can best help your child, please don't hesitate to contact us.

Best regards
